

An aerial satellite-style map of a golf course complex. The map shows several green fairways, brown sand traps, and several large, dark green ponds. A central building with a grey roof is visible. A road runs vertically through the center. A green rectangular box highlights a specific area of land on the right side. Three yellow pushpin icons are placed on the map, each with a text label. The overall terrain is a mix of green, brown, and dark green, indicating different types of land use and vegetation.
